Leandra's Corner

Hello again. I am now 6 years old. I have to use 2 hands to show my age. I had a great Christmas... I have great grandparents! Daddy says they spoil me, but I think I am worth it. Next year, I will start real school. I am a little nervous about it, but excited too. It does mean that I will not be in America as much, because German schools only have a 6-week break in the summer. Please pray it all works out.

Massengill Missions Minute

Dear Randy,

We want to wish all of you a belated Merry Christmas. We apologize for not writing sooner, but we still do not have Internet at home and it makes it more difficult to stay in touch. Also we have had some other computer issues that hopefully we will get worked out soon. Anyway, we are so grateful to all of you that make our ministry possible. God is doing great things in the heart of the Islamic world, and you are playing an important part in what is happening.

Pray for Israel

In November, I met Pastor Jerry Jeter from Bradenton, Florida in Israel. Along with his brother and father we traveled throughout the country, and where privileged to experience some of the ministries that are taking place. We visited our Jewish congregation, which is pastored by Gary Hull, the national overseer. We also attended a service with our new church plant at the Church of God's guesthouse on the Mount of Olives where Pastor Jeter was asked to share the Word. Please pray for the church in Israel and the various pressures it faces.
